The Early symPtom Indicators for Cancer Care Screening Program

Using repeat symptom screening to better manage your quality of life during cancer care

Early Symptom Management in Cancer Care

During your cancer care, you may experience symptoms and side effects. Each person is different.

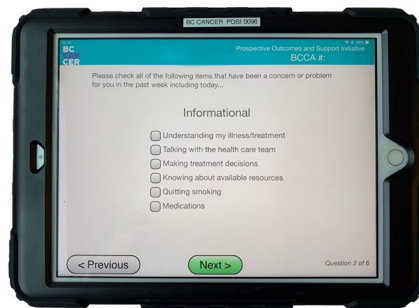

Regular screening improves your care and gives you a better quality of life by showing your symptom patterns over time. This alerts your care team to symptoms and issues that are starting or that are getting worse. This helps the team better plan for your care. It also helps them better care for any mental, emotional and spiritual distress you are having.

I don't worry that I'm taking up time for these things with my doctor.

It brought up concerns I wouldn't otherwise bring up.

I can talk to nurses about the things bothering me.

How does EPICC work?

When you take part in EPICC you will be asked to answer a few sets of questions about your symptoms and issues. These are called screens. You may fill out these screens on an iPad, online or by answering questions on the phone.

Your care team gets your screen results right away. A nurse will review the screen results with you.

- Screens happen before consult visits where you review your cancer care progress or symptoms.
- The questions are grouped into five sets. Your first screen will have all the sets. One set is asked at every screen, the rest are asked only every month or two.

You know your body. You are a partner and leader in managing your health and deciding what care is right for you. You can ask questions anytime and share your thoughts with us.

How do I take part?

Doing a symptom screen

- If you have questions, please ask any member of your health care team.
- For in-person consult visits, you may be offered an iPad to do the screening in the clinic. Or, you may be asked to do the screen online or by phone the day before.
- For the online screens, please try to complete the questions by midnight the day you get them.
- If you feel able, complete the screen when it is offered. We can track your symptoms better if you complete more screens.
- Answer each question as best you can.
- You can review a copy of the questions any time on the EPICC website (see link, at the bottom, right side).

Reviewing the results

- A nurse or other member of your cancer care team will review your results with you.
- Talk with the nurse about how you are feeling, including your worries and fears.
- You may have one or more symptoms and side effects. Each person is different. If you do have symptoms, let the nurse know which ones are most important to you.
- For some symptoms, the nurse may suggest some things you can do to help yourself. For other symptoms you may need more support (such as medications or services).
- When possible, you will receive a printout that shows your results over time. If you want, you can share your results with other health care providers and with family members and friends.

Managing Symptoms & Side Effects

The next pages list the self-support options, education, and services available. They are arranged by the types of symptoms and issues in the screening questions.

The EPICC website has active links to the self-management resources and webpages.
